

How to make Orthodoxy relevant to your kids?

A few things to consider, when explaining our Faith to the little ones:

- Learn about it yourself
- Keep it simple
- Talk in their terms
- Talk about your experience, what motivates you to keep believing, be genuine (they can tell when you want them to do as you say not as you do)
- Relate biblical stories to their daily routine or interactions with others
- Integrate the message in their lives

WHY	HOW	WHAT
We want our children to be saved. We cannot set a greater goal for them in this life but to live a life in Christ.	Follow the example of Jesus: He loved so we love, He sacrificed for others, so we do the same, He is the only way to Heaven.	Orthodoxy is our belief in God as our creator who loves us and helps us to achieve our goal in life: to always be with Him.

Brainstorm examples of HOW to make our faith relatable to kids:

- Make a story
- Use their terms or experiences
- Teach them to love everyone
- Model it yourself
